With the development of the communications industry, some electronic products are designed to have a waterproof structure in order to facilitate the user to carry out a communication task in a situation where the environment is wet. Take a mobile telephone as an example, there is a waterproof part disposed in the bottom of the mobile telephone and used to connect the mobile telephone with a headset or a camera. The waterproof part provides the mobile telephone with a waterproof function and is connected with the headset or the camera through a cable. In the prior art, the waterproof part is directly installed on a circuit board of the mobile telephone, so that when the circuit board of the mobile telephone is covered with liquid, the waterproof part may be damaged and thus the waterproof function cannot be implemented. Therefore, how to integrate the waterproof part with the circuit board of the mobile telephone becomes an important issue.Edit: I have posted this comment on this answer, it is a better response then this answer: Quote This is not possible as described. There is no way to reset your company's partition. It's not as simple as just creating a new partition and an export. You need to backup the entire OS partition. The only way to do that is to backup the internal drive, and re-install all the programs from the backup you made. Unless it's at least the first time I've seen this, the actual reply is: Quote This is not possible as described. There is no way to reset your company's partition. Are we supposed to ignore the fact that the solution you suggested won't work (because it is not valid in this case) and just assume it is still valid? I was a little confused because there are a lot of documentation on the web that show how to do this. I guess I should have searched the proper site instead of only one. – GurusciOct 15 '11 at 19:17 1 This is not a proper answer for the specific question. The actual reply is that there is no way to do what he wants to do, which is not the same as saying that the solution does not exist. – hippietrailOct 15
