Passive Voice

On the other hand, passive voice focuses not on who is doing the action but on the action itself. In some cases, the focus is on the recipient of the action. Notice how in the following examples, the "actor" that was at the beginning of the active voice sentences is now at end of the passive

- Active Voice: The cow jumped over the moon.
- Passive Voice: The moon was jumped over by the cow.
- Active Voice: And they all lived happily ever after.
   Passive Voice: Life was lived happily by all of them.
- Active Voice: Mary had a little lamb.
  Passive Voice: A little lamb was owned by Mary.
- Active Voice: My brother broke the window.
- Passive Voice: The window was broken by my brother.
   Active Voice: The bouncer threw the drunken patron out of the restaurant.

A good clue you have passive voice:the phrase "by " is at the end of the sentence (by the cow, by all of them, by Mary, by my brother, my the bouncer.)

• Passive Voice: The drunken patron was thrown out of the restaurant by the bouncer.
