You can have it come up on the screen immediately, but that might be less practical, I suppose. The files are contained in a file called movie01.mpg. Copy this movie to your computer. Open the movie with a suitable video player. Play the video until the black screen comes up and you are asked to press any key. Press any key you want. Play the video until the closing credits. Press any key you want. Open the file movie01.mpg. The first file is a text file, and when you open it with a text editor, you will find the metadata. Now go to the file management menu in your video player and select open with. Select your text editor, and go through the same process as with the movie, starting from step 3. This will allow you to view the video with the other files. Conventionally, during production of a semiconductor integrated circuit, a so-called lithography technique has been employed to form fine
