

Thursday, May 13, 2013 YouTube user "lizzyc50" has a great game "Lacey Game" where you play the main character Lacey trying to find her mother in each level and getting even more and more intense. Lacey game reminds me of Mario Bros where you are having to get to the "block". Here is the description: Lacey is a very needy young girl who needs to find her mother. In each level of this game, you must get through obstacles and you have to find Lacey's mother. There are power ups and coins that are going to help you complete each level of the game. In the first level of the game, you start in a kitchen where Lacey finds her mother in her refrigerator. In the second level, you have to make it through a field of flowers before you reach the next level. In the third level, you make your way through a hot air balloon and then you have to make it through a maze with spinning blades. In the fourth level, you have to make it to a big sailboat and then make your way to a house where you have to find Lacey's mother. In the fifth level, you have to make it through an amusement park and then you must make it through a room full of doors where you find Lacey's mother. In the sixth level, you have to make it through a toy store and then you have to make your way through an old ruined building. You then make your way to a train station where you can't leave until you find Lacey's mother. In the seventh level, you have to make it through a giant mall where you have to find Lacey's mother. In the eighth level, you make it to a park where you have to make it through a maze of green woods. You then have to make it to a main road where you have to go through a portal to a house where you have to find Lacey's mother. In the ninth level, you make it through a giant cemetery where you have to make it through a maze where you have to find Lacey's mother. Wednesday, May 12, 2013
