Nivolumab, a new drug in the anti-PD-1 group, has shown a substantial survival benefit in several pivotal studies. Many potential prognostic factors have been investigated, but most reports have not shown consistent and validated prognostic factors. This study aims to review and summarize these prognostic factors in metastatic melanoma patients treated with nivolumab. A systematic literature review was conducted in PubMed, Embase, and Cochrane Library from January 2009 to December 2018, to identify relevant studies. Overall survival (OS) was the primary endpoint. Median OS was calculated and prognostic factors associated with OS were identified. Overall, we identified 23 eligible studies involving 12,268 patients. The most common prognostic factors associated with OS were PD-L 2d92ce491b
