I'm building an app in which the admin wants to make an API request to do a validation. The problem is, the form is not submitting. This is my form: And this is my controller: .controller('EventsCtrl', function ($scope) { $scope.search = function() { console.log("The form is submitted!"); }; }); This is my first time using AngularJS. I need to add a form submit functionality in which I call a REST API and then submit the form. Any help is much appreciated! A: You shouldn't have both ng-controller and ng-submit on the same element, if you want the form to be submitted f3e1b3768c
