Submitting form data to controller using ajax I have a form which when submitted sends ajax data to the controller but I am getting an error: An error occurred performing the specified operation: Request format is invalid Below is my code. @using (Html.BeginForm("Upload", "DocumentManagement", FormMethod.Post, new { enctype = "multipart/form-data" })) { } And in controller I am using [HttpPost] public void Upload(HttpPostedFileBase file, string destination) A: If you are using jQuery ajax it will automatically add the proper HTTP header to let your ASP.NET application know that it should expect a request to be in multipart/form-data format. This is necessary because the default behavior of ajax is to do it's work as text/plain So the first thing I would check if you are not already, is that you have this tag in your form: This makes sure that you are not submitting requests to a controller without having passed some parameter of your own. This is a security feature of ASP.NET. If that is the case, you have a few problems. Your controller method requires you to pass two parameters: an `HttpPostedFileBase` and a

In addition to torrent or tamilrokers, there are dozens of legal websites on the Internet from which you can download HD movies for free. There are also many sites where you can broadcast your favorite movies, television, music, cartoons, programs, movies, television shows, sports or games. Nevertheless, as you can see from this article, there are many legal sites such as AATMA.com, and most of them offer free services. If you are looking for legal sites on which you can watch movies and TV shows, that is, many channels that can offer you good quality. fffad4f19a
