Here's the link 11:48 Andaman & Nicobar Islands Andaman & Nicobar Islands Andaman & Nicobar Islands Andaman Islands Are An Abode Of Natural Beauty And Happiness Subscribe to More MovieMasala: Andaman is a part of India which is in the east of the country next to Burma. The nearest airport is Changujardong which is only 60kms to the north east. The closest large city is Port Blair that is 100kms north east from Changujardong. The Andaman Islands are an abode of natural beauty and happiness. There are number of Islands and they are Majuli, Campbell Bay, Havelock, Debnath, Trinket, Long Island, Mark's Island, Ben Island and the Castris. Inhabitants of the islands are mostly innocent, hospitable and nice in nature. The majority of the people live from farming and raising cattle and also from tourism and fishing. A large number of islands is a place to visit in Andaman. Most of the islands are too beautiful that the tourists stay there for days. The majority of the Islands are beaches not more than a few meters, where the water is so clear and crystalline. There are lots of accommodation in the Andaman Islands. But it is not easy to find a place because the capacity of the accommodation is limited. The customers cannot find anything at Changujardong when they go for a trip to Andaman Islands. The best way to find a hotel in the Andaman Islands is to visit this link The most panoramic view of the Andaman Islands is that of the wonderful sunset at Campbell Bay and the view of the beautiful sunset is a sight to behold 11:32 The Andaman Islands (India) The Andaman Islands (India) The Andaman Islands (India as UN map reference Indian territory in the Andaman and Nicobar) may be designated to have originated in North America as the North American mainland and in South America as the MesoAmerican and SouthAmerican continents.
