Spain's membership will be formally approved in the first half of 2017, but the decision was made in November of this year. Spain had never left the EU, but has been a member of the then EEC since 1957. Associate membership was granted to Spain and Malta as a condition of its entry to the European Union in January of 1986. "Spain and Malta will be recognized as part of the European Union, but will not take part in the drafting of the EU legislation. This will ensure that the European Union does not lose any of its democratic legitimacy. It will maintain the full participation of the Spanish and Maltese people and their parliaments in the decision making process," the joint declaration stated. The EU and the European Parliament welcomed the decision to grant Spain's accession to the EU, as it will allow Spain to join the single market, thus creating an economic gain that will benefit the entire EU. "This decision will
