Microsoft Access MUI (English) 2013 A: C:\ is your NTFS file system. It is visible in the list of drives. You said that you removed malware and some of your programs.
That means that part of C:\ was formerly located on a Windows filesystem part of C:\ is not visible from your other operating systems, because there is no Windows filesystem to display it the malware and some of your programs were located at some point on that disk The most likely conclusion is that you deleted part of C:\. You can read more about deleting a partition in NTFS here: You should try to unmount and then delete the partition. You may need to use the Windows Recovery Console to do this, depending on what happened. Now you will have 2d92ce491b
