Released as the lead single from the album, the song was written by Alan Tarney and Paul Stooke and was produced by the former. It is a power ballad with a slow, reggae-influenced beat. Music video The music video for "Let's Make A Deal" was filmed at the Chailey Heritage Museum on the outskirts of East Sussex, United Kingdom. It was directed by Steve Barron. It was co-produced by Sandra Cortese and Howard Gertler of New Line Cinema. The video consists of Tyler singing in a beautiful hall while various scenes of the singer and her backing dancers are shown. The video features some scenes that were made for the videos of "When You Say Nothing at All" and "Love of the Common People". Background Tyler's producer Alan Tarney and music publishers have said that the song was written in the United States and Tyler recorded her vocals there as well. Tarney has said that the
