from 23 countries. They not only provided ideas for the development of national, provincial and local policies on land and forest cover management, but also discussed the strategies of these policies. The evaluation report released in June 2016 showed that by the end of 2015, about 2.2 million hectares of land had been implemented in 44 provinces. Compared with the year before, land restoration efforts including forest coverage expansion and expansion of forestry in urban areas, along with measures to reduce the construction of urban buildings on forest land, have achieved substantial achievements. The 2016 report showed that the area of land restored in 2015 and 2016 amounted to 920,000 hectares. PROTECTION OF ENVIRONMENT AND

INDUSTRY Environmental protection and industry integration are vital for China's sustainable development in the coming five years. In 2015, the State Council issued the task of 'Integration of Environmental and Economic Management'. The policy addresses how to guide, facilitate and regulate the environmental and economic management under the premise of greater cooperation among sectors. It advocates a closer interaction among sectors of economy, society, public sector and ecological environment in order to promote the transformation of the traditional ecological civilization. On the basis of the targets of 2035 Sino-UK IPR FTA negotiations, the Chinese government has emphasized the importance of developing its domestic PSCs industry, and has provided priority support for the development of PSCs in all provinces and autonomous regions. On the other hand, it has proposed to further integrate the high-end PSCs industry with the EPICS industry. With the support of international and domestic financial institutions, the related enterprises are making efforts to cooperate with enterprises from developed countries on the development of PSCs. The State Council also implemented the Action Plan on the Development of the PSC Industry in 2016, and the Action Plan on the Development of the PSC Industry in 2017. All of these efforts will promote the development of PSCs industry. The outlook of PSCs industry also attract the attention of the foreign-funded enterprises. In
