Human brain oxygen metabolism was simulated with a two-compartment model of oxygen extraction and venous sampling. Two physiological parameters, blood-brain barrier permeability and brain extraction coefficient, were varied to assess their effect on local brain oxygen extraction and rate, and on the general level of brain oxygenation. Data from two subjects were used as input functions, with equilibration times varying from 5 to 90 min. The model predictions were in good agreement with the measured data. The effect of increasing blood-brain barrier permeability was to increase the capillary oxygen extraction rate and decrease the alveolar oxygen extraction rate, without significantly affecting the tissue oxygen concentration and extraction. The effect of increasing brain extraction coefficient was to increase the capillary oxygen extraction rate and alveolar oxygen extraction rate, without significantly affecting the tissue oxygen concentration and extraction. The method provides a straightforward way to measure oxygen uptake rates and to investigate the time course of changes in regional cerebral blood flow (rCBF) and metabolism. Q: Why is $\int_0^{\frac{4\pi}{45}} \frac{1}{\sqrt{\sin^2(x) + \cos^2(x) + \sin^2(\sin(x))}} dx$ equal to $\frac{1}{5}$? The problem asks me to prove that $\int_0^{\frac{4\pi}{45}} \frac{1}{\sqrt{\sin^2(x) + \cos^2(x) + \sin^2(\sin(x))}} dx = \frac{1}{5}$. I tried using the substitution $x = 2 \arctan(t)$ but I don't know how I can reduce the integral to the right one. I could use integration by parts to find the antiderivative $3e33713323$
