properties with different names for a GroovyBeanShell class from an outside object I am trying to build a GroovyBeanShell and use a custom controller with a property name which differs from the bean name. Basically, like this. public class CustomController { private String myObj; public String getMyObj() { return myObj; } } () I created a bean shell (groovyConsole) and a controller for the bean. import groovy.beans.Bindable @Bindable class CustomController implements Controller{ String myObj; public String getMyObj() { return myObj; } public void setMyObj(String myObj) { this.myObj = myObj; } } def shell = new GroovyShell(false, false, false) shell.setBindings(new CustomController()) def c = new CustomController() c.setMyObj
