The following is an e-mail sent by Whatsapp to one of the members that downloaded the application and it contains a link to the application that has a 7-day trial period. The reason that Whatsapp sent the e-mail is so they can test and see if they want to buy a license for the application. News Details Ah yes, the Apple keynotes are over and with it we also have the short Apple Event. That is basically all Apple has to announce for the coming months. In the iPhone 8 event there were some rumors to make an announcement but Apple didn't. That means there will be no new Macbook or new Apple laptop at the event. But as usual there is a lot of cool stuff to talk about. And there was even a new Apple Watch with a built in ECG in the iPhone 8 event. Check out the news about that at the end of the article. Here are the news about the iPhone 8 event. Apple used the event to launch four new iPhones in different variants: The iPhone 8, iPhone 8 Plus, iPhone X and the iPhone XR. All new iPhones will be built on A11 bionic chips, and will support the new augmented reality features in iOS 11. The new iPhones are lighter than their predecessors, the iPhone 7 and iPhone 7 Plus, and feature a new OLED display. The iPhone 8 is available in a number of colors. In the iPhone 8 Plus, the screen is larger and Apple has crammed in a bigger battery. The iPhone XR is the cheapest iPhone of the bunch, and features a cheaper LCD display. The iPhone 8 is the fastest iPhone yet, and a new underwater case is included. On the software side, iOS 11 comes with improved Siri features. Read more... Yesterday Apple announced an update to its new MacBook Pro, a move that might be the biggest one of the year so far. The new MacBook Pro comes with a higher-resolution display and faster processors. But wait, there's more: the new laptops now also come with a built-in USB-C port, which Apple says will simplify "connecting to external displays and printers". The new MacBook Pro is available in 13-inch and 15-inch models and they are available to purchase starting from $1,499 and $2,399, respectively. The news was first announced at the Apple WWDC event this month, and its availability begins on June 26th. A number of initial reviews came out and the consensus is that
