A: Yes, MCE does change the default aircraft type. In the case of FSX it is very close to the aircraft you are simulating, so you can see your plane with a very different cockpit than in real life. Aircraft Identification is one of MCE's most useful features. The button that allows you to swap in new aircraft types is called Change Aircraft Type in the list of commands at the top of the menu window. This is a good time to stop being a pussy and try MCE out. It has an easy to use interface, and makes you feel like you are really flying a multi-crew plane. I've been using it since 1.04, and find it indispensable for my 2G airplane. You should try it. I've heard that the FSX 2G simulator is " 54b84cb42d
