In evaluating it, we must discern legislative intent. Id. at 580. We look first to the text of the statute, and if its plain language is unambiguous, it is conclusive. Id. at 578-79; see also Wade v. United States, 504 U.S. 181, 185, 112 S.Ct. 1840, 118 L.Ed.2d 524 (1992) ("The text of the statute itself is the starting point in every case...."). Only when "the language is not dispositive" do we look to other tools of statutory construction. Id. at 579. The pertinent language in the Act is the exclusive jurisdiction provision, which states that "the district court has exclusive original jurisdiction of an alien's habeas corpus petition challenging the order of removal." 8 U.S.C. § 1252(a)(5). The majority held in Carbone that this provision limits § 1231(a)(5) to aliens who are "in the custody of an immigration official pursuant to the final order of removal, and not merely under review by an immigration judge." 369 F.3d at 1157. If a removal order had been issued by an immigration judge, the majority concluded that § 1231(a)(5) would permit the alien to "escape the rigors of the 'in custody' requirement." Id. *594 The panel's holding that the custody requirement is met when an alien is merely "under review by an immigration judge" relies on a misreading of the statutory language and completely ignores the common definition of "custody." Even under the majority's view, the custody requirement cannot be satisfied in any case in which an order of removal has been entered or an expedited removal order is final. Indeed, the majority's view stands in direct conflict with the well-established principle that 09e8f5149f

What's New In Christian Art?

On this Christian Art, we will present you 10 of the most representative images of Jesus Christ in painting and sculpture, made by well-known artists. To admire these artworks, use the "View Larger Image" link on the bottom of every picture. All of these images were drawn from the life of Jesus Christ, as he was born, lived, died and rose again. When this site was created, it was a global term designating Christianity as a whole. Nowadays, Christian refers to a Christian (or a Christiana) who belongs to a particular Christian church. 10. The Holy Family with the Infant John the Baptist - Giovanni Pico della Mirandola - 1463 Andover, Massachusetts, United States of America This picture represents the Holy Family in a unique way. The painting of St. John the Baptist shows him holding a book in his left hand. The Virgin Mary and St. Joseph have their hands on John the Baptist's head. On the other hand, St. Joseph presents a famous golden book under John the Baptist. This picture has a notable symbolic value, because it shows the purity and the holiness of the Virgin Mary. As a matter of fact, the painting of St. John the Baptist is also well known for the pious way in which the son of God died. He is shown carrying a thick book in his left hand, which is a symbol of knowledge. The picture seems to show that he has just been baptized. However, we have to make a note here that it could also be related to the fact that this was the way baptisms used to take place in ancient times. Indeed, another similar painting, attributed to Taddeo Gaddi, represents the Holy Family in this same position. In this regard, we have to remind you that many pagan thinkers such as Pythagoras and Plato thought that water represented a purifying element. In short, the image of the Holy Family in this picture must have religious and historical implications. From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia Saving the life of a demoniac. This image, consisting of a painting in mosaic or on a mosaic, probably dates from the early 3rd century CE. It is classified as one of the first representations of Jesus Christ in Medieval art. The mosaic was commissioned in gratitude for a cure made by Jesus Christ himself, as it is narrated in the Third
