You might want to try: Carroll John Terrell Carroll John Terrell (November 19, 1903 in Rochester, Michigan – April 6, 1979 in Rockford, Illinois) was a United States Coast Guard career and retired Coast Guard officer who served as the 10th Commandant of the United States Coast Guard from 1961 until 1968. Biography Terrell graduated from the United States Coast Guard Academy in 1926 and had a distinguished career in the service, including in a variety of positions in the New York and New Jersey waterfronts. He commanded, among other things, the military police at the U.S. Marine Barracks, Atlantic City, New Jersey and the Fourth District, New York and New Jersey, based in New York City. He was first assigned as the manager of the United States' Waterways Defense Board, which was organized during the Korean War in 1950, to study the threat posed by the Communist-backed North Korean guerrillas' influence on the waterways of the American heartland. Terrell was first assigned to New York City's base in Staten Island, New York, as commanding officer of the new Patrol Force for the area in 1952. As such, he was in charge of the local Coast Guard units that patrolled New York's offshore waters. Terrell assumed his new post as commanding officer of the Base at Cape May, New Jersey, in the northern part of the state, in 1954. There, during the mid-1950s, he supervised the Coast Guard's sweeping enforcement of the federal size limitations on commercial shipments of cotton, steel, seafood, and other goods by water along the New Jersey coast. Terrell left the Coast Guard in 1958 and worked briefly as head of industrial relations for the U.S. Army before being 55cdc1ed1c
