At least five ships collided in the Bosphorus at Istanbul's Besiktas docks on Monday, according to the Turkish news agency Anadolu, causing a huge fire and damaging at least four of the vessels. Fires burned in the area, while a helicopter and rescue teams helped seven people, five of them minors, Anadolu reports. Two of the vessels involved in the accident were detained by the Turkish Coast Guard for port violations, the agency states. The accident comes two weeks after Istanbul Governor Ali Yerlikaya announced a plan to construct six new piers on the Bosphorus in order to ease congestion and the risk of accidents. The plan includes the construction of a new pier between the ferry ports of Kanlidere and Kızkalesi. In the meantime, Maritime Minister Güler cited statistics that show a 37 percent increase in shipping accidents along the Bosphorus this year compared to 570a42141b
