Tharashkar Vigh Tharashkar Vigh (), or Tharashkard-Vigh, is an important, dedicated work on the Veda that was composed by Tarabhi-sarvakona-mahatmya-Brahmanas (Rigveda-Samhitā-I-Brahmana-with their commentaries. The title of the Tharashkara Vigh or Tharashkara Vigha has also been translated into English as Tharashkar's Book of Vedas or Tharashkar's Book of Vedic Mantras. Mantras in the Tharashkara Vigh The Tharashkara Vigh has been arranged in the order of the mantras as quoted in the text and the notes which follow explain each hymn. However, the Vigh contains a number of Mantras that are not quoted in the text. These mantras are highlighted in red font in the Rigveda commentary for the Tharashkara Vigh. While the Tharashkara Vigh contains mantras which are quoted in the Veda, it has other important mantras that are not found in the Veda. These are marked with blue ink. Rigveda books The original version of the Tharashkara Vigh contained 2230 hymns. The first eight chapters of the book contain the Sama hymns along with their verse numbers, commentary and dialects of the hymns of the Rigveda. The late 19th century British scholar, Francis Maclear, discovered that there were three other books on Vedic Mantras in circulation, in addition to the Tharashkara Vigh. These books are: Thirukamburapaaviyam, Vakrokulu Maruta, and V
