easyWebSave is a powerful IE add-on to enable you to save whole web page or only html selected as MS Word/RTF, Mht(Singe File Web Page), HTML or Plain Text easily and quickly. With easyWebSave, you don't need to start the browsing process with downloading the page contents. Once you are happy with the page you want to save, just right-click anywhere on the page, and then you will get a menu, which is like a MS Word/RTF toolbar, at which you can choose to save the page contents as what you want, like MS Word/RTF file, Mht file, HTML file, and you can even select which part you want to save. The saved web page will be easy to re-open later. What's more, you can set some options for the saved html file, such as put a title of the saved file, make it a favorite, and so on. Once installed, this program adds a Tools menu to the IE toolbar. It includes a menu item, called Save Page as, which does exactly what you'd expect. There are additional items on the Tools menu that perform additional functions. On the File menu, there's a menu item named Save Page As. This brings up a Save As dialog window with a list of preset file formats to use for your web page. All of the standard HTML and Mht formats are in the list, as well as several other formats such as Word (RTF) and plain text files. There's also a special menu item named Save Page to that dialog box. If you save a web page with this special menu item, it will open the HTML file directly in a new IE window. There's also a Save Page As tab on the File menu. This opens the Save As dialog window, but with just the Save as page option in the list of possible file formats. There's no menu item for Save Page To for this option. The Save Page As Options tab on the File menu lets you change some of the basic properties of the saved file. Here you can change the file's name, save the file as a favorite, and set the location for the file to be saved to. (This is the first place you should be looking if you want to set up options for later use.) You can also open a saved file right away in an external program. This is done with the Open With button on the File menu. Choose the program
