director and cybersecurity specialist. be the source of a cyberattack on our firm by having too much access to our . In some cases, if this is discovered, he may be fired and may be able to be charged with hacking. Cybercrime Cybercrime is widespread and in some cases difficult to identify, even within these organizations. This is because many of the hackers operate in the shadow economy and it is often impossible to determine that they are using the software or methods used to commit the crime.
