will start and stop for every client that connects to the server. The start time is always when a client connects for the first time. After the MySQL service de-registers the service will still remain online in case the clients try to connect to the server during the idle time. During this time a client cannot be connected. Saves chunks of text to a database, so you can access them faster The idea behind the utility is to provide you with a quick way to handle text, snippets or source code more conveniently. To put it simply, you cannot retrieve the text from the standard Windows clipboard and, after you manage the data, you can save it to a database. The direct advantage stemming from this approach is that no longer need to save entire documents in an arbitrary data form, you can find snippets or notes you took faster and you can easily export the database to HTML directly. As a side note, the tool is compatible with almost every program and the file system.

Consequentially, you can employ other arbitrary directories on your hard drive in addition to the application's database.
