Sidebar Diagnostics is a handy utility that is easy-to-use and to install, thanks to a streamlined setup process and requires no additional software installation. The app has a minimalist and elegant UI and besides the HW info is handy as well. What is new in this version: Version 1.5.1 Make changes to other file associations (PDF -> etc) Minor fixes and bugs resolved. Allows IT pros to quickly view, analyze and diagnose issues with logon scripts, event logs and other system logs. Get detailed reporting and alerts for any changes made to system logs or for unauthorized changes by users. It includes logging macros, a highly configurable real-time viewing mode and a powerful query language for logging. I am running Windows 7 ultimate 64-bit. When I open the My Computer icon, I get the "My Computer has encountered a problem and needs to restart" message. Has anyone else had this problem? Is it a virus? I have ran Malwarebytes, Kaspersky Total Security 2013, AVAST, NOD32 and Super Anti-Spyware

Free. Malwarebytes did find two fake flashplayer.exe virus programs and removed them. But everything else was negative. I am using a Toshiba laptop model number G50-10. Thanks, Scottie Hi, The Gateway R1013 is a 15.4-inch laptop with an Intel Celeron N2800 processor, 1GB RAM, 16GB hard drive, DVD burner, Windows Vista Home Basic with Office 2010. In the operating system I have: Windows Live, Adobe Reader 8, Adobe Dreamweaver. Also I have the Gateway GXT1522 computer which is a 15.6-inch laptop with an Intel Celeron N2120 processor, 2GB RAM, 64GB hard drive, DVD burner, Windows 7 Home Premium with Office 2007. My network is a Business broadband connection, no dial up. My question is: If I connected both computers directly through ethernet to the router and placed the laptops on the top shelf would there be any connection problems? I would do this if I didn't have to share the connection with other users. Would I be correct if I say that the smaller Gateway R1013 would have better performance than the Gateway GXT1522 due to its smaller size and less complexity and speed? I love the Gateway GXT1522 because of its small size and bright display but
