Oct 27, 2009 Would you please create a version of MrFishIt that works with the new Looting Injection system? Thanks. . I'm thinking of just manually making the bot recognize inject... like I need to do that manually or something.. is there a way to use injection? Or do I need the bot to read BOP files again? Crafty AR Party Update... ----- 1.1.19 Dec 01, 2009 I have MrFishit working fine with my modification for WotLK and I would like to get it working in the upcoming patch. Please help, I would really like to get MrFishit working with the newest WotLK patch. I have injected his code to my 2 running bot, both working with injection 100 percent. The code is placed in the BOP folder, but nothing comes up. Anybody has any ideas? Thank. 8.v Patch/Warrior's Handbook Awaits. I currently have a little bot, MrFish (version 0.8.02), working w/injection 100% in WoW, and would like to get it working with the 8.5 patch/warrior's guide. Is there a way to do this? The only issue I have encountered in the last two weeks was when I installed the patch. I was experimenting w/o it installed and had copied mrfishit's BOP folder to the WoW\Interface\Addons folder, but that took me quite a while. So, I'm wondering if I should move the BOP folder to the \Interface\Addons\OC\ folder. If I do, then it should work 100% for me. Another option is that I could just copy mrfishit's BOP folder to the WoW\Interface\Addons folder and have it read the file from there, but that's a little bit too easy, to be honest... So I'm wondering if anyone has any ideas. I'm assuming that if this was successfully done, then people would be having the same issue. From what I've read, the required files are "BOP_Wotlk" and "BOP_Warrior's Handbook". Again, like I said, I've had no issues with it, and it works fine; just a little thing I want to fix.
