Its success in defending the fort made it to be named "Lady of the Holy War". Then, in 1759, one year after the Battle of Almenara the Venerable Order of Saint John of Jerusalem, the military order that had best allied with the Republicans, founded the famous and famous Order of Saint John of the Immaculate Conception and Colegio de San Ildefonso of Toledo. Under orders from the Viceroy of New Spain, the noble and charitable Santiago de los Caballeros de Guatemala founded the first public school (Colegio de San Ildefonso) under the "universal" law of study, by the Municipal Council of the Town of Madrid. He founded this school as a public charity that aims to educate children of that community as those children went to the Colegio del Sagrado Corazon de Guadalupe and the University's Colegio de San José of the same city, which has been called the "first University in America". On January 27, 1822, the Papal Bull Diaceysis was proclaimed in Spain. It was the realization of the long and friendly relationship that had existed between the Catholic Church and the Spanish
