And run down the legislation concerning the English Church for all parishioners to see. Friday, August 5, 2008 "Total House Arrest" I've heard that "total house arrest" is the phrase used for an American prisoner. Apparently, this means that, if one is sentenced to prison, he or she will be totally isolated from the outside world. I'm sure that, in many cases, this is true. For example, I recall hearing that an American prisoner who was serving a life sentence in a cell with around twenty other inmates was fed by a tray from a window in the cell door. The situation was
