FIFA 22 introduces the most realistic players ever seen in a video game, based on the new Next Gen Player Model. They were created using 3D scans of 3.0 and 2.0 versions of players from real-life games, and the data was curated by FIFA's global game director Alejandro Villas Boas, at our studios in London and San Francisco. You'll experience the power of these new players in every area of the game, from ball skills to dribbling, passes, crosses, shooting, set pieces and more. The visuals of these players have never been this realistic. We've pushed the Next Gen Player Model to its limits, ensuring that all of its key attributes have been fully optimised to create a new level of realism in everything players do. In addition to new player models, FIFA 22 also introduces a revamped ball physics model that captures the unpredictable flight of the ball in-game. FIFA 22's gameplay has been improved across all modes with new tweakable parameters, all-new defensive AI and challenges, a Master League mode, updated Ultimate Team scoring, and dynamic weather effects.

These and many other new features are detailed below. A brand new game engine for FIFA, Fortify, delivers unprecedented levels of quality for gameplay, visuals, audio and interactions.
