Wii save file name: .Low-cost carrier Jet Airways has snapped up a stake in India's SpiceJet, offering a lifeline for the embattled airline as it grapples with a liquidity crunch and low passenger traffic. The deal, which will be financed through debt, is aimed at providing refinancing and protection to the struggling airline, sources familiar with the matter told Reuters. The airline is in talks with its lenders about a possible restructuring that may see it halve its ticket prices in return for new loans. "This is definitely a move to fill the liquidity gap," a lender said on Monday, on condition of anonymity. The deal, according to one of the lenders, is for a long-term loan of up to $1.6 billion from the second quarter of next year. Gastrointestinal transit of melatonin and its changes in dogs. To measure gastrointestinal transit of melatonin, using a very small dose of melatonin, we induced gastrointestinal damage in dogs by administering 5% hypertonic saline solution into the stomach, and radiologically measured the time taken for the gastric contents to reach the canine distal small intestine. The gastrointestinal transit of melatonin was evaluated using several routes of administration. Injection of melatonin into the submucosal layer of the duodenum at doses of 10, 25 and 50 microg/kg at least 10-min before gastrointestinal damage induction delayed the appearance of the gastric contents in the small intestine. The absorption was quite rapid, and effective doses seemed to be 50 microg/kg or less [Glycine max (L.) Merr.] is an important legume crop worldwide. It is utilized as a livestock feed and for human food products such as soybean meal, soy oil, and tofu. An experiment was conducted at the University of Minnesota during 2016-2017 to investigate the effect of boron (B) on quality parameters of grain collected from soybean variety I-1574. Boron is a trace element that plays a crucial role in many physiological functions in plants, including seed development, germination, and flowering. The experiments were conducted using only yield performance, which included determinations of plant dry weight, seed moisture content, test weight, and number of seeds per pod. The variation among plot means indicated significant differences for all the studied parameters except the yield and seed moisture content. Grain quality parameters were compared among all treatments in the control (0 mg B kg<sup>-1</sup>) and four levels of supplemented B (0.05, 0.25, 0.5, and 1.0 mg B kg<sup>-1</sup>). Seed weight and number of seeds per pod were the least affected, whereas percentage test weight was most affected. The experiments showed that a low level of B (0.25 mg kg<sup>-1</sup>) significantly improved test weight. In contrast, a high level of B (1.0 mg kg<sup>-1</sup>) significantly decreased test weight. Significant decreases in test weight were not found at lower levels of B. The study also showed that a low level of B (0.25 mg kg<sup>-1</sup>) significantly increased number of seeds per pod. Finally, we found that low levels of B (0.25 mg kg<sup>-1</sup>) resulted in the best performance across all quality parameters for the soybean.
