I want to keep my password database protected and stored and the employees access to it should be off the table. It should be integrated with CAS and the IBM LDAP platform. I need to be able to auto-start and authenticate. Again it has to be encrypted at rest so if the app gets breached it is a total loss. This is where PassVault comes in. LBSLite is a very simple little application that allows you to store passwords in a password vault. Despite its simplicity the app is actually very useful. It doesn't even need an ID to authenticate, it uses custom settings to obtain a list of valid login/passwords. It's also very easy to set up a password vault by simply browsing from a preset list. It even has an add-in for browsers that allow you to store your favorite passwords on your browser itself. Overall a very handy application. But since it's so simple it's just perfect to use with the people that already have CAS installed. PassVault

Password manager Use of the TheraSphere Kit for Improving the Efficiency of Treatment of Bone Marrow Lesions in Rheumatic Diseases. Rheumatic diseases are autoimmune or metabolic disorders with a variety of symptoms affecting many parts of the body. Bone marrow is a very important organ that plays a role in all aspects of rheumatic diseases. It produces all blood cells and is responsible for the creation of red blood cells, platelets, and leukocytes. Therefore, in order to stop inflammatory processes and limit complications resulting from destruction of the bone structures, it is necessary to deliver the immunomodulatory therapy of rheumatic diseases directly to the site of bone marrow activation and the disease-specific lesions. In this case, controlling bone marrow activity and neutralizing disease-specific factors leads to resolving and preventing further disease progression. To reach this goal, local and sustained release of anti-inflammatory, immunomodulatory factors that are specific to the disease process is needed. In particular, the technique of the encapsulation of biodegradable polyelectrolyte microcapsules carrying drugs into the bone marrow space was developed at the early stages of the research at the Endor Biotechnology company. About the Author Comments and reviews PassVault Posted by Chris on 20.07.2013 Great application, I'm currently using the tool for my gmail accounts because I don't want to have to remember two passwords, one for gmail and one for dropbox. I store my passwords in a vault on my browser, it's great to store everything in one place and have it all organized. Sheffield man's shrivelled foot baffled doctors Published duration 20 February 2018 image copyright Getty Images A man's foot that has shrunk so much it is now the size of his torso could take a lifetime to treat, doctors have warned. Wayne Rashley is unable to use his foot because he has been left with a third of the skin and muscle of his foot. He has had skin grafts and is the first person in the UK to have doctors try to create a new toe by using tissue taken from his arm. But his doctor said he would not be able to walk again if the operation fails. Mr Rashley, 46, has had the operation to graft muscle and skin onto his foot to repair the damaged tissue. At one stage during the 16-hour surgery he was left with just a third of the skin on his foot. image copyright Google image caption Mr Rashley received the graft of tissue from Hannah Bartlett, consultant plastic and reconstructive surgeon at the Freeman, said: "Tissue from Mr Rashley's arm was taken and then used to graft to the foot.
