The Photo Montage program is a good, but fast-to-learn, application that lets you easily create a digital montage.

Photo montage is an easier application than Photoshop, as it is easier to learn and its interface is similar to that of a traditional photo editor. Photo Montage isn't very stable and can be buggy. It does have many add-ons that can open a number of popular image

We propose to study the spatial relationships of H⁺ translocation and K⁺ activation in platelet activation. K⁺ activator drugs (sulfobromophthalein and procaine) have been used to enhance K⁺ transport across the plasma membrane, but both drugs are nonspecific in their effects on K^+ flux and H^+ translocation and therefore our proposal to study their spatial relationships with H^+ translocation in platelets is fraught with difficulty. To address the problem, we have produced monoclonal antibodies to platelet plasma membranes which are activated by thrombin and will use them to study the relationship between K^+ activation, H^+ translocation and cell shape in different stages of activation.

Monoclonal

antibodies will be used to identify antigens associated with H⁺ translocation and K⁺ activation and to measure the spatial relationships of these events in platelet activation by thrombin. The antibodies will be used to study the mechanism of the generation of cell surface positive charge during platelet activation. To accomplish this goal, monoclonal antibodies will be used to identify proteins which bind H^+ and K^+ in activated platelet plasma membranes and study their spatial relationship to membrane lesions induced by thrombin. These studies will provide basic information on the molecular events involved in platelet activation and will contribute to our understanding of events which regulate platelet function. The Mounties are getting their biggest, baddest, most heavily armed police cruisers ever, and they're getting them for free. The government of Alberta, Canada's oil and gas-producing province, has been handing out $67,000 cash to each of the province's RCMP detachments in the name of investigating environmental crimes. One of those detachments is in Anzac, a northeast Alberta town of approximately 1,200 people. It's also the hometown of Cory Canning, an RCMP officer who wrote a complaint to the Canadian Broadcast Standards Council after being reprimanded for describing it as "the only reason we ever fly helicopters.”

 (“The only reason

helicopters” is a
common refrain in
the RCMP’s hockey movies.) But the town is more than
the sort of place
where hockey moms
worry about their sons playing with

also, evidently, the site of a lot of environmental trouble. A report into the epidemic of airplane tree-killing submitted by the province concludes that, of the
