"Traditionally our gameplay has been based on a simulation of the human body," said FIFA Director of Global Design Andrew Ritchie. "But now, with HyperMotion Technology, we have created a series of high-impact physics calculations based on actual player motion. You can tell that these new gameplay dynamics based on real-world player movements are now part of our engine." Live Movements Players can determine how opponents defend through their approaches, where they move, and how they do so. For instance, they can approach a player in space and lead him off-balance, or simply play off his back foot. If a player adjusts his approach and becomes more aggressive in the process, then the opponent will instinctively launch a counter-attack. "Fifa 22 Cracked Accounts has a live motion that we have never had before. It's a very characteristic live dynamics. Players have three layers of agility, and depending on how the player wants to attack or defend, he can change his angle and movement," said FIFA Lead Designer Ludwig Valett. “Just think about a one-on-one duel with a very technical defender. The natural reaction of the defender is to try to anticipate your moves in order to stop your attack, and he will adjust his angle and distance over the course of the game.” Aerial Dangers FIFA 22 will also introduce physics-based ball flight that takes in account how players hit the ball, their body shape and rotation, as well as the size and ball-shape. In addition, players will be able to glide or slalom to avoid tackles. “Aerial games can be very tactical, and the physics allow you to see some real ‘killer’ skills in the air. It will be interesting to see how players approach the ball in the air and to see them try to defend their goal,” said Head of Server Programing Guillaume Rambourg. Real-World Tactics FIFA 22 will go one step further than previous versions with player reactions through a new tactical AI system. Players will adjust their body positioning based on their opponent, and react accordingly. Such an adjustment can be made by simply looking at the opposition player. “We have a new ‘look’

moment in gameplay, where instead of players reacting through their AI, they will react when players come into view,

Fifa 22 Features Key:

- 64 episodes of ACCLAIMED commentary by Jamie Redknapp, Martin Tyler and Alan Smith; including original elements such as Gareth Southgate for the second consecutive year, John Gamble for UEFA Euro 2016 and 13 other famous names.
- Enhanced control of every pitch movement and possession to provide more realistic ball flight, more shots, more power and more intelligent play. Using the most accurate representation of real-world data so players can perform like world-class professionals.
- New “Dynamic Free Kicks” technology applies complex equations to create a brand new free kick system which accurately reproduces the real game. Deflects and set-pieces are more varied, unpredictable and reactive.
- Play smarter, be more strategic and reap richer rewards, thanks to new touchline lines which show every player where his markers are. Easily read and react to team-mate positions to make your team the tactical master in FIFA 22.
- eFootball PES 2019 will bring to life the most passionate football community ever and continue the never ending cycle of tournament play to see who is crowned the champion.
- Impact Engine 2 is the world’s most powerful ball physics engine, and PES 2019 will be the most realistic feeling football simulation yet. With the ability to accurately predict the trajectory of the ball even in the most complicated situations, gamers will experience the game they have always wanted.
- New ProVoice™ Head Audio, a dynamic approach to creating audio sounds that truly reflect your game playing style.
- Full Weather Cycle, a feature that will bring the game to life to its fullest with 6 distinct climates along with random local weather conditions. This will allow you to experience the game season-by-season, with any changing weather at any time.
- New Player Impact Engine, a more realistic ball control system that tracks every shot, pass, tackle and header. PES 2019 is designed to feel and look like football of today.
- Improved Formation Awareness, for greater precision and control over your tactics. In PES 2019 you will feel like you are in control of your team’s formation and style of play, as the AI is now able to read and utilise your formation and ensure you are set up as you want to play. This is a huge improvement to the way PES 2018 delivered tactical play
