* The most basic of all tools is the Lasso tool. Drawing a box around an area allows you to erase the enclosed pixels, removing those parts of the image. * The Brush tool is designed to work like the stylus on a tablet: You draw, paint, and erase. To change the brush, click the button on the Toolbox bar. * The Bucket tool is like a paint brush, applying or erasing a preset color in an enclosed area. * The Spot Healing Brush tool is a highly specialized healing brush that attempts to apply and blend pixels together to fix damaged areas of an image. * The Content-Aware Resize tool is useful for quickly resizing images without changing their content.

* The Liquify filter tool is used to manipulate the appearance of a selected object without affecting its content. * The Free Transform tool is used to distort or bend an image. * The Puppet tool is used to control a selected object with a limited amount of control. * The 3D Wipe tool is used to manipulate the texture on surfaces. * The 3D Crop tool is used to trim out unwanted parts from a surface. * The 3D Extrude tool creates a 3D object from the selected surface. * The 3D Nudge tool is used to move objects around in 3D space. Taking a digression, I'd like to offer my opinion that Photoshop manipulations should be considered not "art" but "craft." That is, they do not capture an artistic concept or mood. Using Photoshop to subtly change the look of an image without affecting its content is like wearing wigs in a Renaissance Faire. You don't own a wig, and you don't deserve a pass because it looks like a real hair wig. To make your image less than an example of photo manipulation, you need to use only its basic tools to add depth of field, lower contrast, change the hue or saturation, or blend colors in the shadows or highlights. Most other filters or tools are designed to add expression. This chapter looks at many of Photoshop's paint-by-number options. ## The Liquify Filter The Liquify filter lets you change the appearance of one or more selected items and does so in a way that can be subtle or startlingly obvious.

the top features of Photoshop Elements. How to use the Top 5 features of Photoshop Elements How to Remove Red Eye Red eye removal happens when the light reflected from the whites of the eyes into the camera at the same time that the pupil is open and exposed to light. This can happen when you take a picture of a person with a flash. Sometimes, you'd like to remove the red eye without using a photo editing app. Here's how to do it. Launch your photo editing app on your computer. Open the images that you'd like to edit. Go to the Edit menu and select Red Eye Removal from the Red Eye Removal menu. You can access the Red Eye Removal menu by pressing the Alt key twice. Check the OK option. You can choose whether the removed red eye should be fixed by blending or simply be gone. If the red eye is blended, then the eyes will appear different in the photo, meaning that the

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a method of manufacturing a semiconductor device, and more particularly, to a method of forming a silicon carbide (SiC) film on a semiconductor substrate. 2. Description of the Related Art Silicon carbide is a compound semiconductor that has the desirable properties of a wide band gap, low leakage current, high dielectric breakdown electric field, etc., and has been drawing attention as a material that can form a next generation power device. A silicon carbide semiconductor device is of a trench gate structure as shown in FIG. 1. That is, an N-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 103, a P-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 104, and a gate insulating film 105 are laminated in the surface of a P-type silicon carbide semiconductor substrate 101, and a gate electrode 106 is formed on the gate insulating film 105. A gate side wall 107 having an inner wall part 105a of the gate insulating film 105 and an outer wall part 106a of the gate electrode 106 is formed at the upper end of the gate electrode 106. An N-type diffusion region 103a of the N-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 103 is formed in a surface of the P-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 104, an N+-type diffusion region 103b is formed in the N-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 103, a P+-type diffusion region 104a is formed in the P-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 104. A source electrode 108 and a drain electrode 109 are formed on the N+-type diffusion region 103b and the P+-type diffusion region 104a respectively. The silicon carbide semiconductor device of the trench gate structure described above may be fabricated as follows. First, the N-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 103, the P-type silicon carbide semiconductor region 104, the gate insulating film 105, and the gate electrode 106 are sequentially formed on the upper surface of the P-type silicon carbide semiconductor substrate 101. The gate electrode 106 has a structure in which the inner wall part 105a of the gate insulating film 105 and the outer wall part 106a of the gate electrode 106 are laminated, and both the inner wall part 105a and the outer wall part 106a are in contact with each other in a trench region T1. Further, the N-type diffusion region 103
