Now what I am looking to do is, have the column A in row2 share the same cell as column B in row2. What is the best way to go about this? A: Add a new AutoNumber field and make it invisible. Then create the following form expression in the RefersTo textbox. ="[ColumnA]"[PrimaryKeyField] & "[ColumnB]"[AutoNumberField] If you use this as the default form view it will automatically reference the two fields when you create a new record. Q: Creating variables dynamically in Python in for loop I'm currently writing some code for my thesis and I need to dynamically create variables within a for loop. I'm doing a regularization estimation and need to estimate the Lasso on a certain number of variables. Ideally, for each value of L I'd have to create a new variable run the Lasso on the new variable I'm using Python 3.5.2, and I'm quite new to programming in general so please excuse my ignorance. This is a simplified version of what I'm trying to achieve:  $L = 5$  #number of
