1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a communication method and apparatus in a mobile station which is used for a communication system such as cellular phones and a communication system using the mobile station. 2. Description of the Related Art In the mobile communication system, a mobile station (MS) uses an electric wave from a radio base station to perform communication. In this mobile communication system, the base station tries to decide whether the call is occurring as the MS moves, in other words, whether the MS is in the service area. In this case, if the MS moves while being in the service area, the base station sends a call setting signal to the MS. Therefore, the MS receives the call setting signal, and returns an affirmative response to the call setting signal. According to the affirmative response, the base station establishes communication with the MS. However, it is not possible for the mobile station in the service area to move fast enough. Further, even if the mobile station moves, a distance covered by the mobile station is small relative to the service area, so that the mobile station sometimes moves out of the service area. In this case, it is necessary for the mobile station to inform the base station of the change of the service area.

However, there is a problem in that the mobile station cannot know its location, that is, the direction in which the MS is moving, when the mobile station is out of the service area.

She has taken on the world record in an attempt to raise awareness of university students' mental health problems. Val's record attempt was successful in terms of reaching all campuses, although only one of them was open on the Thursday. Her journey began on the University of Salford's campus in Manchester, where she hit the ground running at 9.30am. (Image: Ashleigh Morris) She then
