The Long and Winding Road to FIFA 22 Innovation is at the heart of FIFA, whether its new features like Ultimate Team, Match Day, The Journey or the strategic innovations like Formation Lab and FIFA Points, FIFA's technologies are all built to deliver an incredibly deep and immersive football experience. Following on from our eSports season pass release last year, in FIFA 20, we started the road to the FIFA World Cup at the start of the new footballing season, with the introduction of a new way to play online. We continued this in FIFA 21 with the release of Battlegrounds and the return of Ranked Play. FIFA Ultimate Team has also had a big reboot, with a new system that will provide us with a roadmap to FIFA Ultimate Team 2. With the FIFA World Cup under way in Russia, the team has been hard at work to deliver a FIFA World Cup game that respects the unwritten rules of the beautiful game, while also delivering our best FIFA ever. The release of FIFA 22 is the most ambitious release we've ever done with a game, and with elements like new surfaces, new camera angles, new animations, new crowds, new eSports, a new rewards system, and an overhaul of the Career Mode and Ultimate Team modes, it really is a game that has never been played quite like this before. And like all the best sports, the FIFA World Cup is not only here, but has arrived at a time when it couldn't be bigger. FIFA has a global audience that was just waiting for us to deliver a World Cup game that would satisfy all of their football needs. It's our biggest challenge ever and it's our biggest opportunity, and we couldn't be more excited to share it with you.
