Tag: jobs The US death toll from the recent flooding and storms tops 200. More than 3,000 people are still living in shelters. A dozen dead and five missing. After two days of inundation, Mississippi and Alabama regions suffered the worst impacts. At least 70 people died, three people are reported missing. In addition, more than 200 others suffered severe damage to their homes or businesses. FEMA spokesman Todd Rogers said the death toll will rise as search and rescue teams continue to comb through the wreckage. Across Alabama and Mississippi, homes are almost completely submerged. Over 500 people are still living in shelters, most of them in Alabama. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) reported that search and rescue teams are assessing the flood damage and they are expected to take much longer than the previous rainy season. About 1.5 million people are affected by the floods, most of them in Alabama and Mississippi. According to reports, floodwater has reached the rooftops of some residential homes. In a survey of areas severely affected by the flooding, 3,042 residences were found to be submerged, and tens of thousands of trees have been uprooted. Meanwhile, a small plane crashed and burned into a pond near the airport in Patuxent River, Maryland. Officials said no one was hurt in the crash. In China, more than 5,000 passengers have been affected by the massive train disaster in the country's Sichuan province. A crash occurred on Friday morning between two passenger trains, leading to more than 45 fatalities. A total of 2,097 people died in the incident, according to the latest news. All of them were crammed into the poorly-built carriage. More than 150,000 people have been affected by the quake. The centre of the global financial system is again threatened, as investors are left wondering if the so-called "Fed" – the Federal Reserve – will be able to save the fragile recovery from the massive global financial crisis (GFC). The chairman of the US Federal Reserve, Ben Bernanke, has promised to do his best, and to cut interest rates to below zero if necessary. According to analysts, the plan the Federal Reserve chairman devised to rescue the global economy includes the effort to reduce the money supply, calling it "quantitative easing." After Ben Bernanke's pronouncements, investors have been eager for

What's New In?

1. Field of the Invention The present invention is directed to a tilting foot pedal assembly for a vehicle braking system, and more particularly to a tilting foot pedal assembly that has two pivotable foot pedal levers. 2. Description of Related Art Generally, a vehicle brake system includes a hydraulic master cylinder and a hydraulic booster for assisting the driver in actuating the brake pedal. In the case of a vehicle having a tilting foot pedal assembly comprising two foot pedal levers, a single master cylinder is used to supply two braking forces to two sides of a vehicle. As shown in FIG. 1, a main piston of the master cylinder is linked to a brake pedal pad 1. Each brake pedal pad 1 is linked to a pair of rear foot pedal levers 2, 3 by a push rod 4. As the driver steps on a brake pedal, the master cylinder supplies a braking force to the pair of rear foot pedal levers 2, 3. The push rods 4 move a push rod 5 which moves the rear foot pedal levers 2, 3 forward or backward. Unfortunately, the single master cylinder may cause uneven operation. Therefore, it would be desirable to have a tilting foot pedal assembly which mitigates or obviates the aforementioned disadvantages. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to apparatus for and a method of detecting fluid leakage on pneumatic tires. More specifically, the present invention is directed to apparatus having an array of magnetic field sensors which detect the leakage of fluid within the tire. 2. Description of Related Art The need for monitoring the condition of tires on vehicles is well recognized. Tire inflation monitoring devices are quite useful to indicate when a tire may need to be replaced because of lack of inflation or lack of adequate air pressure. Tire pressure monitoring systems are becoming increasingly more common. In one system, a sensor is installed within the tire that uses radio frequency to monitor tire pressure. Some detection systems are incorporated into the manufacture of the tire. One example is a sensor embedded within the tire. Some systems are used as aftermarket add-ons which can be placed onto a wheel assembly. One example is a flange around an existing wheel having an array of circumferentially arranged conductive coils, the system being used to measure the diametrical compression of the tire. In a tire/wheel assembly, the quantity of air pressure in a pneumatic tire is typically measured directly using a sensor placed within the tire or indirectly from wheel rotation using a sensor placed on a flange which
