I want to have an Android application that can synchronize this information between the database of two or more (more is better) Android devices. The best solution would probably be to have the secondary device subscribe to another device's database and update/delete entries or what have you. I've been doing my research and it seems that this is not a trivial task. The best solution I've seen is to "publish/subscribe" to your own servers, however I'm not sure if this is a viable solution. Maybe the Android app would have to have a server that it queries. I've also seen a very good solution where an Android device subscribes to a TCP port on another device, however I am not sure how to enable this with the Android OS. Can anyone point me towards the right direction? A: This is the way to go - I've implemented something similar for my own Android project. You should have a client-server architecture where a server listens to inbound requests from clients. Then, you'd implement a messaging system that allows devices to when her mother watched her raise her daughter from a newborn. Gloria has been her companion for 13 years and her daughter is hoping this video will help others in similar situations. "Let's help all of the people who are going through the same thing and let's do what we can do to take care of them and help them. It helps all of us." In her video, Gloria spends much of the time on the bed next to Sepulveda as Sepulveda comforts herself, a pillow on her lap and a yellow locket around her neck. Sepulveda said she stole the locket from her father's grave in Mexico, where Gloria was born. "I'm trying not to cry, but I'm so emotional," she said. "It helps me know that he's not alone." Sepulveda also said she hopes Gloria's goodbye will help other families, too. "Everyone needs to know how I feel," she said. Sepulveda said she is missing Gloria's first steps, laughs and licks, but her final goodbye isn't as painful as she once thought. "Now I know she's going to be OK," Sepulveda said. "And I know that I can make it through."Q: Combinatorial Mathematics & word search puzzles Context I have seen many word searches in real life involving words like "Jigsaw puzzle" and "Calculator" and "Picture puzzle".

However, after a few months in pursuit of word searches, I have found one which has a great theme. The theme is puzzlers (not puzzles). Here is a description of the puzzle.
